Penobscot Shores

Life with a view

Summer 2022

Christmas in July

You can watch holiday movies on the Hallmark Channel in July so why not have Christmas in July at Penobscot Shores? Residents gathered in the meadow by the campfire and Christmas tree to enjoy caroling, holiday punch, Christmas cookies and a Yankee Swap. Chandler appears pretty happy with his flip flops that he unwrapped, but he did trade them for dinner for four at Linda's. That's how a Yankee Swap works—you trade up.

Plan Ahead

We never know what life has in store for us, but we can plan ahead and help take some of the worry away.

When I meet with clients I recommend that they look at other retirement communities to find the best fit for them. What is important to you? Do you want to be near a large city for shopping and restaurants? Do you like small town living? What about being near a university or college? Do you like the outdoors or want a water view.

And then I recommend clients get on multiple retirement community waiting lists. You will get newsletters and insights on how the community operates, turnover rates, and where their focus is currently at for improvements, activities, dining and more. Then when the time is right for you to make a change in living arrangements, you have options and a good idea of what is in store for you at the community.

Having said that, I think after you look at other retirement communities that you will find Penobscot Shores will be your top pick, but I might be a little partial too.

Anchors Aweigh!

Residents enjoyed a morning sail aboard the wind-jammer Olad out of Camden Harbor. They had fair winds and an outgoing tide to carry them into Penobscot Bay for a leisurely sail near Islesboro.

Visiting the Beehives

A doe and her two fawns have been seen regularly on the campus enjoying a walk in the meadow, a nap in the woods or checking out the beehives. Speaking of bees, the beekeepers' club harvested over 100 pounds of honey this summer. We have one beekeeper who makes a delicious sourdough bread that she shares whenever we are bottling the liquid gold—yum, yum.
